Introduction

All Saints is an inclusive community that considers the individual needs and qualities of all its students. Staff are committed to delivering a balanced and creative curriculum that is accessible for all students, removing any barriers to learning. This is achieved by adaptive planning within quality first teaching and additional adult support where appropriate to complement the work of the teacher.

All Saints is a welcoming faith community living by the value of:

- Respect for ourselves, others and our environment.
- Understanding, accepting and celebrating the uniqueness and diversity of our All Saints' family.
- Affection for all members of our school and wider community in every situation.
- Humour in our interactions with each other, showing loving kindness to all.

We work in partnership with the home, our churches and local communities in delivering high quality education for all. These relationships provide the foundation for developing lifelong wholeness and integrity.

Our SEND information report aims to set out how our school will support and make provision for student s with special educational needs and disability (SEND).

This information report is based on the statutory Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND) Code of Practice (2015) and the following legislation:

- Part 3 of the Children and Families Act 2014, which sets out schools' responsibilities for student s with SEN and disabilities
- The Special Educational Needs and Disability Regulations 2014, which set out schools' responsibilities for education, health and care (EHC) plans, SEND co-ordinators (SENDCO s) and the SEND information report

Special Needs Coordinator (SENDCO)

The person with the day-to-day responsibility for the co-ordination of specific provision made to support individual students with SEND is the Special Needs Coordinator (SENDCO).

The SENDCO provides professional guidance to colleagues with the aim of securing high quality teaching for children with SEND, and works closely with staff, parents and other agencies.

The SENDCO works with professionals providing a support role to families to ensure that student s with SEND receive appropriate support and high-quality teaching.

The SENDCO plays an important role with the Head teacher and governing body in determining the strategic development of SEND policy and provision in the school in order to raise the achievement of children with SEND.

The SENDCO is Mrs L Blagden, 0114 2724851

This information report will be reviewed by Mrs L Blagden, every year. It will also be updated if any changes to the information are made during the year.

Contact details for raising concerns

Arrangements for handling concerns from parents or carers of children with SEND regarding the school's support are within the scope of the school's complaints procedure.

Parents may also contact the SENDCO or Head teacher directly if they feel this is more appropriate.

SEND information report

The kinds of SEND that are provided for

A pupil has SEN where their learning difficulty or disability calls for special educational provision that is additional to or different from that provided for pupils of the same age (COP). At All Saints Catholic High School, we pride ourselves on our inclusive nature and ethos. We will always endeavour to make reasonable adjustments to include pupils and parents/carers in our school.

The four categories of SEN are outlined as follows in the SEN Code Of Practice 2014;

Cognition and learning

Support for learning difficulties may be required when children and young people learn at a slower pace than their peers, even with appropriate differentiation. Learning difficulties cover a wide range of needs, including moderate learning difficulties (MLD), severe learning difficulties (SLD), multiple learning difficulties (PMLD). Specific learning difficulties (SpLD), affect one or more specific aspects of learning. This encompasses a range of conditions such as dyslexia, dyscalculia and dyspraxia.

Communication and interaction

Children and young people with speech, language and communication needs (SLCN) have difficulty in communicating with others. Children and young people with ASD, including Asperger's Syndrome and Autism, are likely to have particular difficulties with social interaction. They may also experience difficulties with language, communication and imagination, which can impact on how they relate to others.

Social, emotional and mental health

Children may experience a wide range of social and emotional difficulties which manifest themselves in many ways. These may include becoming withdrawn or isolated, as well as displaying challenging, disruptive or disturbing behaviour.

These behaviours may reflect underlying mental health difficulties such as anxiety or depression. Other children and young people may have disorders such as attention deficit disorder, attention deficit hyperactive disorder or attachment disorder.

Sensory and/or physical needs

Some children have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of the educational facilities generally provided. These difficulties can be age related and may fluctuate over time. Many children and young people with vision impairment (VI), hearing impairment (HI) or a multi-sensory impairment (MSI) will require specialist support and/or equipment to access their learning, or habilitation support. Children and young people with an MSI have a combination of vision and hearing difficulties. Some children and young people with a physical disability (PD) require additional ongoing support and equipment to access all the opportunities available to their peers.

Some students with SEND may have needs in more than one of these areas.

Our school currently provides additional and/or different provision for a range of needs, including; Autism, dyslexia, speech and language difficulties and those with medical needs.

All Saints has a fully integrated virtual, four place, resource for students with physical disabilities. Teaching for students takes place entirely in the mainstream classrooms. Teaching Assistants or additional adults in the classroom are used to predominantly used support students who have a place in the IR.

Identifying students with SEND and assessing their needs

We monitor the progress of all our student s through the following means:

The SEND Manager will collate Primary school SEND information from the Primary SENDCo and Class teacher and make this available to all classroom based staff. All SEND students undertake baseline testing when they start at school and we continue to regularly assess progress with the aim of establishing whether there is a need for intervention.

If we notice a possible SEND need, key staff within the learning support department can access further assessments or outside agency expertise to establish next steps.

Evaluating the effectiveness of SEND provision

As part of our school monitoring processes we regularly look at the effectiveness of our provision for students with SEND. This happens through lesson observations, book scrutiny, data and pupil progress meetings.

Students who have an Education Health Care Plan undergo an annual review and outcomes are shared with relevant staff. We will use student voice to capture views of their provision and adapt the curriculum and environment accordingly

Assessing and reviewing students' progress towards outcomes

We will follow the graduated approach and the four-part cycle of assess, plan, do, review.

The subject teacher will work with support information and plan for the students to make progression.

This will draw on:

- The subject teacher's assessment and experience of the student
- Their previous progress, attainment and behaviour
- Other staff's assessments, where relevant
- The individual's development in comparison to known starting points, their peers

 and national data
- The views and experience of parents
- The student's own views

All teachers and support staff who work with the students with SEND will be made aware of their needs, the outcomes sought, the support provided, and any teaching strategies or approaches that are required. We will review the effectiveness of the support and interventions and their impact on the student's progress.

Our approach to teaching students with SEND

Teachers are responsible and accountable for the progress and development of all the students in their class, including those with special educational needs.

High quality teaching is our first step in responding to the needs of students who have SEND. The use of adaptive teaching strategies will be used to meet the needs of individual students.

Below are examples of the types of interventions we can provide

- Literacy and numeracy
- Social and emotional
- Speech and Language
- Dyslexia
- Hearing and Visual impairment
- Health and Wellbeing

Adaptations to the curriculum and learning environment

We also provide the following adaptations to ensure all students' needs are met: Examples include

Additional adult support, predominantly provided for students in the IR who have a Physical Disability. Any other available adults will be deployed according to priority.

Students with SEND who are eligible for extra time will be identified as early as possible and this information is shared with relevant staff.

The school will try its best to create the best available environment according to the resources available. Typical class sizes will often have 30 or more students in them. The teacher is responsible for adapting resources to support SEND students. The curriculum is sufficiently broad and balanced and it provides students with a deep academic and pastoral experience. Small group work and 1:1 teaching is limited due to available resources. The school has a good number of computers that can be accessed by each student throughout the day and other technology is widely used by teaching staff to support the delivery of the curriculum.

Additional support for learning

We have a small number of teaching assistants who have a number of specialisms to support students. These include Speech and Language, Dyslexia, ASD, Literacy and Numeracy, Key Stage 4, Hearing and Visual impairment. We also work with the following agencies to provide support for students with SEND:

- Autism Education Trust
- Speech and Language service
- Health agencies

Enabling students with SEND to engage in wider school opportunities

We encourage all our students to take part in extracurricular activities such as:

- Sport
- Music
- Afterschool clubs
- Trips
- Lunchtime offer

We do this by working with individual students, their teachers and carers to ensure the students' needs are met.

We have the following facilities to help disabled students access extra-curricular activities:

- Lifts
- Lunchtime support for students with disabilities

Expertise and training of staff

Our SENDCO has five years of experience in this role and is also a member of the leadership team.

Mrs Lauren Blagden, BSc (Hons) Psychology, PGCE, PG Cert NASENCO.

Our SEND Manager has 18 years of experience and they work closely together with the Learning Support Manager to lead SEND provision.

We have a specialist teacher who carries out GCSE (and GCE) Access Arrangements for students typically from Year 10 onwards.

Staff continually access training and professional development, examples of topics covered are:

- Autism
- Epilepsy
- Prevent training
- Safeguarding
- Speech and Language
- Visual and hearing impairment
- Demand avoidance

Securing equipment and facilities

The school uses its own budget to provide the majority of resources and facilities that are needed for the students.

Some specific resources come through other agencies such as our locality and directly from the Local Authority for those with more complex needs.

Consulting and involving parents

Parents and carers are the experts on their child(ren) and we strive to work collaboratively with them, united in our passion to achieve the best outcomes for the student.

Parents of children with SEND are invited to meetings to discuss their child's progress and they also receive two progress reports per year.

Consulting and involving students

Children with SEND are encouraged to participate fully in the life of the school, including being a form representative. All pastoral and academic leads will encourage students to share their thoughts, worries and dreams with them. Pastoral leads will often involve these students in consultation and review. The views of students with SEND can be expressed either directly through their voice or advocated by staff through observation and their knowledge of the child.

Complaints about SEND provision

Arrangements for handling complaints from parents of children with SEND regarding the school's support are within the scope of the school's complaints procedure. Parents may also contact the SENDCO or Head teacher directly if they feel this is more appropriate.

The parents of students with disabilities have the right to make disability discrimination claims to the first-tier SEND tribunal if they believe that our school has discriminated against their children. They can make a claim about alleged discrimination regarding:

- Suspensions
- Provision of education and associated services
- Making reasonable adjustments

Working with other agencies

The school works with a number of agencies which include health and social care bodies, local authority support services, diocesan services and voluntary professionals.

Supporting students moving between phases and preparing for adulthood

We will share information with the school, college, or other setting the student is moving to. We will agree with parents/ carers and the students which information is to be shared as part of this process. All students are supported through the application process. Often the school will liaise with the post 16 SENDCo to ensure a handover in the summer term of transition.
